Saturday Evening
April 17

The Script:

This is the chic-est party of all time. The chic-est of the chic. The party of all parties. The stuff of legend.

Your evening begins with a handsome escort who is actually listed in Holly Golightly's little black book. You will travel to the top of the 1922 Hotel Beaumont, home of the soon-to-be fabulous Sky Room on the Roof. Magically, the Roof is now Holly's 1960s funky apartment featuring furry lamps, turquoise furniture, weirdo pictures and lots of dazzling jewelry.

The panoramic view of southeast Texas is stunning. Combine the view with high spirits, light jazz, the sweetest chocolate bar by Sweet Moments and fabulous hors d'oeuvres from Goodfella's, and the evening is unforgettable. A "framed" photo of you and your fast friends featuring "tiffany"-like jewelry will ensure you never forget this martini party! The silent auction might afford you a rare opportunity to own a real piece of jewelry....

Your chic evening continues next door in the historic Jefferson Theatre as Audrey Hepburn plays that daring and darling Holly Golightly, star of Truman Capote's best-seller, "Breakfast at Tiffany's."
